The history of the island is equally impressive and includes remnants of the Late Stone Age, early Islamic structures, ruins of an ancient Christian monastery and other archeological finds. Beaches, kayaking and luxury hotels also grace the island. The AWN Explorers Club will host a day trip to Sir Bani Yas Island on March 6, come and get a preview of this amazing island and all it has to offer.

Explorers Event: Neighborhood Walk in Al Bateen

On Tuesday, January 30, a group of over 42 ladies met at Tasha's Restaurant car park for a walk round the Al Bateen area. It was a perfect day to be outdoors, the sun was shining and the temperatures were just right.

We started with a 5-minute walk towards the Central Bank, where I pointed out the UAE Currency Museum. The next area we discovered was the trendy contemporary cafes and restaurants, all looking tempting.

The Bateen Marina has numerous boats in every size imaginable, making you feel you are on holiday. There are apartments overlooking this marina and a hotel being built, making it very popular for locals and general public to visit.

The next place to visit was the Zayed Gallery and a library, where we were pleasantly given a brief outline of the books stored by a member of staff who was most excited to see a large group of expats. The Gallery is a must place to visit, however time was moving quickly and we made our way towards Tasha's Restaurant for a delicious, well-earned lunch. The restaurant was a great place to enjoy lunch, there was certainly a wonderful atmosphere felt by all. We even saw a prominent guest with his entourage having lunch. There was excitement and royalty present.

All our AWN members enjoyed the day and I am sure they will revisit Al Bateen again.

Explorers Event: Louvre Guided Tour

On Tuesday, February 6, a group of 22 women participated in a two-hour guided tour through the 12 galleries of the Louvre Abu Dhabi.

After surveying the beautifully designed museum's 12 rooms, each representing a chapter of humanity, we arrived at the culminating exhibition: Ai Weiwei's 2016 Fountain of Light. The oeuvre, appearing at first glance to be a crooked chandelier for giants, and quite at odds with the rest of the museum's ancient and practical pieces, is reminiscent of depictions of the Tower of Babel. Indeed, it was the artist's intention to remind the observer of the story in Genesis, whereby God divides humankind by imparting upon them different and mutually unintelligible spoken languages, in order to prevent them from cooperating to reach His kingdom. As the twenty-some women gathered around the piece in awe and contemplation, I could not help but feel a kind of hope in the potential that AWN seems to be realizing.

Naturally, native English speakers are preponderant in the American Women's Network; yet, women of all backgrounds and all levels of English language come to AWN meetings and clubs week after week. Surrounded by these women, Ai Weiwei's crystal fountain symbolizes the power of women coming together from all ends of the world to share their knowledge, passions, experiences, and ambitions.

The women who were able to spend a morning exploring the "universal museum," with its tribute to ancient villages, great powers, empires and civilizations, universal religions, cross cultural trade routes, and development of today's modern world, were able to equip themselves with tools to analyze objects around them, and the empathy to imagine life in another time and space.

Our tour guide Josephine was the perfect mediator who shared her wealth of knowledge effortlessly, we all enjoyed the experience and would certainly recommend it to others.

Explorers Event: UAE Central Bank Currency Museum

On Tuesday, February 20, thirty ladies attended the UAE Central Bank currency museum guided tour. We all met at the bank reception and were taken by Ms. Mariam Ghalloum inside the currency museum.

Opened in late 2013 to mark 40 years of the UAE Central Bank, the currency museum occupies a section of the ground floor in Central Bank's headquarters building in the Al Bateen area. Containing a wide range of exhibits that date to long before the Union of the UAE, the museum has a variety of paper notes, gold and silver coins that include historic Indian rupees, as well as Saudi Arabian and Qatari riyals.

This intriguing exhibition explains the history of currency in the region with fascinating insights into the introduction of the dirham in 1973 as the official national currency and the issuance of the first series of notes in 1976.

The museum also includes a part of the Central Bank's collections of currency notes, currency coins, commemorative coins, gifts and samples of issues of UAE currency notes and coins and currency of other countries, in addition to cash counting and sorting machines used by the Central Bank in the past.

A few ladies went after to Tasha's restaurant for a well deserved bite and coffee.

MEET THE ART CLUB COORDINATORS

Julia Kim

I am originally from Korea but lived in Chicago long enough to be able to call it my hometown. I went to the U.S. to study at the University of Wisconsin and met my husband there. After many years, my husband retired and we arrived in Abu Dhabi in the middle of the summer of 2016. I have two grown children with two beautiful granddaughters.

I checked out all the different women's clubs in Abu Dhabi before I left Chicago and I decided that the AWN was a club I wanted to explore further. Within the first week of my arrival, I found it was the right choice for me. There were many activities within AWN, but I felt that something was missing: an art club.

I believe that everyone is born with an innate creativeness and that anyone can enjoy the process of creating something. I also believe that painting can be an excellent hobby especially as one gets older. Painting can be enjoyed both individually and as a group, at any time. Although I had a passion for art during my youth, I started painting at much later age. I was eager to share my painting experiences with others. So I created the AWN Art Club in January 2017 with some experience as the president of an art league back in the States. Now, I have two great co-coordinators who help me lead the club smoothly and who handle the continuously expanding membership.

My intention of creating this club is not as an institution but as a social gathering place where people who have the same interests can meet, learn, and teach each other. I hope all the art club members gain positive experiences from this club and learn more about painting.

Marty Holm

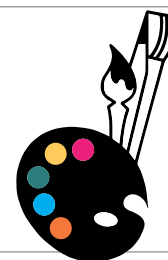

Hi, I am from the United States, and have been enjoying Abu Dhabi since December 2015. I have been a part of the AWN Art Club since its inception in January 2017. My background is in finance. So, though I love observing people at work in a creative way, that does not come naturally to me. I am in awe of the talent of our club members, and every single week I learn a valuable takeaway from them.

One of the neatest aspects of the club is that it is medium-neutral. Members are introduced to various mediums, such as graphite, watercolor, acrylics, and oil; affording us the luxury of discovering where our artistic niche may lie. Conversely, many established artists in town generously give us their time and wisdom, simply to enrich our experience with art. It is a pleasure to contribute, in a small way, to a group that gives so much back!

ART CLUB

The Art Club meets Mondays at the National Theater from 10 a.m. till noon. There's a 20 AED fee per person each session for the usage of studio.

We are currently closed for new membership. Contact Julia at artclub@awnabudhabi.com.

SOCIAL BRIDGE

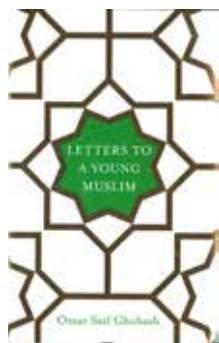

Social Bridge takes place on Sundays from 1:30-4:30 p.m. at the Water Front Suite (below The Vista restaurant) at The Club. All levels are welcome. The 45 AED fee covers the entrance to The Club, sandwiches, fruit salad, cookies, coffee, tea and water. Parking is available either inside or outside The Club. Please email bridge@awnabudhabi.com to sign up for play and to receive full details.

BOOK CLUB

The book selection for March 19, 2018 is Letters to a Young Muslim by Omar Ghobash.

From the Ambassador of the UAE to Russia comes a bold and intimate exploration of what it means to be a Muslim in the twenty-first century.

In a series of personal letters to his sons, Omar Saif Ghobash offers a short and highly readable manifesto that tackles our current global crisis with the training of an experienced diplomat and the personal responsibility of a father. Today's young Muslims will be tomorrow's leaders, and yet too many are vulnerable to extremist propaganda that seems omnipresent in our technological age. The burning question, Ghobash argues, is how moderate Muslims can unite to find a voice that is true to Islam while actively and productively engaging in the modern world. What does it mean to be a good Muslim?

What is the concept of a good life? And is it acceptable to stand up and openly condemn those who take the Islamic faith and twist it to suit their own misguided political agendas? In taking a hard look at these seemingly simple questions, Ghobash encourages his sons to face issues others insist are not relevant, not applicable, or may even be Islamophobic. These letters serve as a clear-eyed inspiration for the next generation of Muslims to understand how to be faithful to their religion and still navigate through the complexities of today's world. They also reveal an intimate glimpse into a world many are unfamiliar with and offer to provide an understanding of the everyday struggles Muslims face around the globe. (Picador)

We meet on the 4th Monday of the month in various locations, coffee shop/host's flat. We have two meeting times. Afternoon group meets 1 - 3 p.m., and Evening group meets 7 - 9 p.m. You can sign up at the AWN Coffee Morning or by email at bookclub@awnabudhabi.com.

CULTURE CLUB

On Sunday, February 4, several ladies met to discuss another cross-cultural topic: "Makeup, tattoos, body art - undying human obsession." Our three presenters tackled different aspects of traditional beautification and body-art methods across different times and communities. Izabella gave a short introduction to what beauty has historically meant for different people. Ping gave us an overview of the Beijing Opera painted faces and their significance. Whereas Wendy introduced us into the world of Maori warriors' carved facial tattoos called ta moko. She also described the significance of the hei tiki pendant that can be found in the Louvre AD. We tried to better understand what makes people modify their bodies. In the end, although we may not have appreciated all the body-art practices discussed, we agreed that the motivations behind them were universal - to be attractive, to fit in, to be protected, to express one's spirituality, etc. Overall, we spent a very enjoyable and thought-provoking morning that undoubtedly also broadened our horizons.

Be an English Language Facilitator

This is a fantastic chance to meet and discuss topics with women from all over the world and a wonderful venue for cultural exchange.

We are looking for women who are native English speakers to help facilitate an English Conversation Group, and also at least one woman who would be willing to organize the group. You do not need to have a teaching qualification. All you need is a good grasp of English, a love of conversation, an interest in topics from current events, women's issues, children, parenting, history culture and much more. And the love of a good chat!

When: Sundays 9 - 11:30 a.m. (we do not meet on school holidays or in the summer)

Where: Abu Dhabi Country Club

About the group: The English conversation group has been a part of Women in Abu Dhabi - WIAD - (for over 20 years if not more). Originally WIAD was run by British/English speaking women, however the demographic has changed over the last few years, and the group has become much more diverse. Thus, finding English speakers to run the English Conversation group is becoming more challenging, and we are therefore reaching out to AWN!
